

Dr William Cho BDS(Otago) DCLinDent(Perio)

Dr William Cho graduated with a Bachelor of Dental Surgery from the University of Otago in New Zealand.

Following this, he practised as a general dentist in private practice, gaining extensive clinical experience and a comprehensive understanding of overall oral health.

During this time, William developed a keen interest in periodontics, leading him to return to the University of Otago to complete the Doctor of Clinical Dentistry in Periodontology.

Committed to excellence, William regularly attends national and international conferences to remain at the forefront of periodontal and implant advancements.

During his postgraduate training, William also contributed to the education of undergraduate dental students as a clinical supervisor.

William takes a patient-centred approach, combining modern, evidence-based treatments with clear communication to ensure comfortable care and positive outcomes. William also speaks fluent Korean.
